A Few Famous Dive Sites in North Sudan

1 Umbria wreck

The wreck has a few entrances to cargo holds that are easy to enter. Old trucks, type Fiat "Lunga" can be found at a depth of 13 meters on the first deck. Some of the other holds contain empty wine bottles, cables and a lot of bombs, that have been piled up there for years.

2 Sha'ab Rumi

Sha'ab Rumi, the reef where Jacques Cousteau carried out his Conshelf II experiments in the Sixties. Here, Cousteau's "oceanauts" were practically living at the sea bottom. There is good opportunity for divers to take photos about sharks.

3 Angarosh

This place is called 'mother of all sharks'. The big school of hammerhead sharks and barracudas.

4 Sanganeb

One of the plateau is characterized by a number of pillars of beautiful hard and soft corals. Anthias and other small fish hover around these pinnacles and the brightly colored soft corals wave in the slight current. In between these pinnacles a number of gray reef sharks were swimming.

5 Sha'ab Suadi (Blue Bell wreck)

Also called the "Toyota wreck", this site offers unusual dives with numerous Toyota cars scattered around the sea bed and the wreck of the Blue Bell cargo ship which sank in the 70s. The boat's propellers rest at about 90 meters. Corals in amazing colors add to the experience.
